

I am in the Army. I assumed that protections were in place to ensure that things essential to our democracy functioning properly -- things that servicemembers are fighting for everyday -- would be safeguarded by the federal government. The obvious violation of the equal time rules by Sinclair broadcasting and its abuse of the public airwaves it has been entrusted with makes me sick to my stomach. I hope that the FCC takes action and sanctions Sinclair Broadcasting and considers pulling its licenses as it is impossible for a bloated corporate entity like Sinclair to serve the interests of the local populations in the areas it controls stations.

while I am sure the upper echelons of the FCC are filled with Bush supporters, I would hope that the FCC still holds the public interest as its highest priority and not pandering to political donors and hacks.

Thank You.
